BUYING AN AUTOMOBILE

By "THE WAUGH KID"

In the palmy days of the "creek" every boob who registered a killing hit the grid for New York City, where he paraded up and down Broadway and flirted with the buxom steerers, but the old order has been changed and now the emblem of wealth and prosperity is the ownership of an automobile. Therefore, when I made a cleanup in Jim Butler last week, I decided to buy a car. However, never having ridden in an automobile excepting when I attended funerals where the ride was free, I did not know just what make of a car to buy.

Going down town I met H. H. Bacon and, thinking he might know something about automobiles, I asked his advice.

"Come out here, my boy, and let me show you the last word in motor-dom," he said, as we edged out to the curb in front of his office where stood a brand new Olds. Bacon lifted the hood to show and explain the working parts of the engine. "What is that thing for?" I asked, pointing to the magneto. "That is the carburetor and a dandy one, too," said Bacon very enthusiastically. "But that brass tag there on the box says it's a magneto." "That's right, that is the magneto. This is the carburetor down here. Just wait until I go into the office and get the book."

Bacon went into his office but appeared a moment later and with the instruction book in one hand and great gestures with the other, gave me a good single handed talk. Yes, said, if you want a car, this 29th century wonder is the one to buy."

Just then I met P. S. Booth, the auditor of the Extension company, who was going into the First National bank. "Say," I said, stopping him. "I'm thinking of buying a machine and would like to know what you consider the best?" "Take it from me, kid, the Stutz is the stuff. Can't beat 'em. Notice the Stutz in the big race back in Indianapolis a few weeks ago? Came in third. If Doc, Grigsby or Ralph DePalma or someone who wasn't afraid to 'give her the gun' had been at the wheel, she would have come in first," said Booth. "What do you mean by 'giving her the gun'?" I asked curiously, as I'd never before heard of giving an auto "the gun" and I was anxious to know everything. Pete laughed and said: "Why, that means to 'step on her.' I was still in deep water so asked him what 'stepping on her' meant." "Now, kid, I'll explain. 'Stepping on her' means the same thing as 'coming down on her' in a double handed drilling contest." His explanation was sufficient. I understood. I was glad I asked Mr. Booth because he is such an experienced and strenuous driver. They say that he has actually made three long drives in the past two years, viz: Millers, Gold Mountain, and out as far as the Halifax mine. Some mileage, eh?

After leaving Mr. Booth I dropped into the Mizpah lobby and saw Jim Skelton. Jim said: "The only thing I know about automobiles is to keep 'em from running over me." Just then I noticed Mr. Marks, the genial clerk, who was watching a fellow at the writing desk use four dollars' worth of the hotel's stationery. "Some gals these 'cabin ginks' have to come in here and wear out our upholstered chairs and use our paper and envelopes," said Marks, as I approached him. "Now, kid, I don't know a thing about automobiles, but if I was going to buy one, I'd go down and see Campbell & Kelly. Those boys know more about automobiles than the fellows who make 'em."

Marks' suggestion was good and I went down to the foundry. Campbell was down in Arizona building a mill but I found Mr. Kelly, Mr. Van Harlingen and Mr. Ingalls in the office, all of whom were busy looking over the plans of an immense gallows frame for the Florence mine in Goldfield.

"Morning," I said as I entered their sanctum.

"Good morning, kid," said Kelly. "What is on your mind this morning?" "I am thinking of buying an automobile and came down here to ask your advice," I replied. "Kid," said Kelly, "the Hudson is the car you want. I've traveled all over this coast in mine without a single breakdown." And then he launched into the technicalities of gas engines, carburetors and the like. I, of course, did not understand anything he said but tried to look wise and agreed that a "multiple disc clutch" had it on the "cone clutch" and so on. While I am not sure, I think Kelly knew what he was talking about. At any rate, aside from Bacon, he is the best single handed talker in town and just about had me going when one of the machinists called him over to the shop.

As Kelly went out the door, Charlie Ingalls, who is some auto expert himself, said: "Kid, Mr. Kelly is bug-house about these Hudsons. If you want a car that will stand the racket, buy a Hupp. Isn't that right, Mr. Van?" said Charlie, turning to Van Harlingen, who was smearing big globes of black ink over the clean white sheets of a ledger. "Yep," said Van as he bit off the end of a fresh cigar. "The Hupp is sure some car for the money. I make out these repair bills here and I know." "Remember," continued Charlie, "those big transformers we moved over to the sub-station last winter? Campbell pulled 'em with his Hupp."

"You ask Bruce of the Power company how the Hupp performed that time. Each transformer weighed eleven tons and, believe me, it was sure some drag but the little old Hupp snaked her right along. Buy a Hupp, kid, and let me install one of our Campbell & Kelly engines. If you will do this I will guarantee that Jules Smith and Jack McQuillan will have to eat your dust going over the Gold Mountain summit." Just then Kelly returned from the machine shop and resumed his talk on the Hudson whereupon I ducked.

Now now is a time going to select a car when every man in town who owns one is so positive that his machine is the only one? I guess I'll quit investigating and do what every body else does when in doubt—buy a Ford.

NEW DISTRICT OF VOLCANO MAKES GOOD ON ITS EARLIER INDICATIONS

(Special Bonanza Correspondence)

VOLCANO, July 12.—Volcano, the gold camp of promise, continues to look well in point of development and prospects of producing ore of commercial grade. The various leases are going ahead at a satisfactory rate and the leasers without exception are extremely hopeful of striking ore and the indications of doing so are growing brighter as operations progress to depth. Messrs. Glenn, Musser and Ellis have joined forces with Messrs. Helm and Jungles of the Adams lease and are now sinking a combination shaft which is down 24 feet, 5x7 feet in the clear and timbered to 16 feet and are now clearing a space 20x20 feet east of the shaft to install a whim and expect to have same in commission by the end of the present week. The intention is to sink 200 feet before doing any lateral work. Under favorable conditions they expect to reach that depth by September 15th. This will go far to prove that Volcano has the goods that made Goldfield the most talked of camp in the states.

Dunphy, Blatz & Toney have run a 40-foot east crosscut from the bottom of the shaft that is down 45 feet. The last five feet the leasers have found ore that pays values estimated to go from $50 to $75 a ton. This lease adjoins the combination shaft and the prospects are of the brightest that this lease will soon be a regular producer.

On the Welsh & Thackeray lease the shaft is now down 85 feet and the leasers have started a northeast crosscut from the bottom of the shaft which is out about 15 feet and expect to cut into the mineralized zone in the next 20 feet of work. Operations were somewhat handicapped by reason of bad air and powder smoke which will be remedied as soon as the balance of the blower pipe arrives and is placed in position.

The McCarthy & Mooney lease is making fast progress with two shifts employed. The drift east of the shaft at the 60-foot point is out 15 feet in very hard formation. Mr. McCarthy expects to reach the ore body in about 20 to 25 feet additional and expects to find excellent values, as indicated by assays secured from the vein 80 feet east of the present shaft.

Shepherd & Taylor, on block 2, southwest of the Glenn & Musser lease, has found indications of quartz imbedded in the porphyry, several pieces showing free gold in the typical black stained quartz characteristic of the district. He has run a three-foot trench for a distance of more than 50 feet. His discovery goes to show that the ore zone runs more in a southeast direction instead of easterly as at first thought and accounts in a degree for the fact that several of the earlier leasers were unsuccessful in locating the pay zone. Mr. Shepherd is feeling quite hopeful of finding something good and development on his block will be watched with considerable interest by those interested in the future of Volcano.
